

Robin's Review

April 2009

robinsclass@yahoo.com

Spring has sprung!

The children's interest in pirates has been waning and a new enthusiasm for spring has begun. Rina and Kiera's fresh flowers brought in from home inspired an interest in how flowers and plants grow. The heavy rains and rise in temperatures –along with Julia's passionate love for ladybugs (due in large part to last years ladybug costume) has inspired us to introduce a unit on spring. We will be learning about bugs and flowers and about how the seasons change. A couple of our new spingtime poems have quickly become the most requested poems at meeting time. The poems are listed below:

Grass so green

Grass so green and sky so blue
Spring has sprung so how about you?
Take off those mittens
and put away those coats!
It's time for swimming and sailing in boats.....

The little brown bulb

The little brown bulb lay asleep in her bed. Queen winter she roared and she raged overhead but the little brown bulb lay asleep in her bed. The bright sun came up. The snow melted away
The little brown bulb she poked out her head, she threw off her covers and jumped out of bed!

Highlights

Thanks to everyone who came to our field trip at Zilker park earlier this month. It was a lot of fun!

Announcements

Thank you for taking the time out for conferences. It was nice to meet with you.

Our field trip to the Zilker botanical gardens has been rescheduled for May- keep your eye out for futher info in your child's box

Week of The Young Child

The time has come! Week of The Young Child is fast approaching. This year it falls during the week of April 19-25.

Week of The Young Child was established in 1971 by NAEYC. Its purpose is to educate the public on the needs of young children and their families. Week of The Young Child also recongnizes early childhood programs and services that provid to young children.

The Robins class will be celebrating Week of The Young Child; Along with PAC designated activities. Be sure to keep and eye for activities and times.

Forms